

Neoscreen^{pro}

Comprehensive genomic screening for newborns

Neoscreen pro is a kit for research for the screening of clinically significant genes, including inherited disease-related genes, in newborns.

Neoscreen pro is an advanced NGS-based panel designed to enable early detection of genetic conditions in newborns, offering insight into more than 400 genes associated with inherited disorders. The panel focuses on conditions where early detection and treatment lead to improved prognosis and quality of life.

This comprehensive solution supports the identification of: metabolic diseases, primary immunodeficiencies, hemoglobinopathies and hematological disorders, endocrine disorders, neuromuscular diseases and other genetic syndromes and rare diseases.

Early diagnosis through genomic screening allows for timely intervention, personalized treatment, and improved longterm outcomes. With its broad gene coverage and high analytical sensitivity, the Neoscreen pro is a powerful tool in the transition toward early intervention.

The kit is validated for germline analysis (SNPs, indels, CNVs) of DNA extracted from blood or body tissues (fresh, frozen) or DBS samples.
